

The Official PowerPoint Bingo Game

By www.PPtBingo.com

The objective of this game is to spot PowerPoint presentation mistakes the presenter makes and help them improve their presentations so that future meetings are more productive (and fun!).

Rules:

- The goal of the game is to mark five squares in a row vertically, horizontally or diagonally.
- You can mark no more than two squares per slide (otherwise you may be able to get Bingo on the very first slide!)
- When you have completed your five in a row, you need to say Bingo out loud so others playing the game know you have a Bingo. You can muffle the word in a fake cough or sneeze, or you can make a comment to the presenter including the word “bingo” in it, such as “Bingo, that’s exactly what I was just thinking of”.
- The first person to get a Bingo and say it out loud wins.

The Official PowerPoint Bingo Game Card

Flying text	No structure to the presentation or rambles	Wacky sound effect	Bean people clip art	Colors that have little contrast
Fumbles with the equipment	Spelling or grammar mistake	Statistic/ example that doesn't make sense	Twelve or more lines of text on the slide	Use of Word Art
Inconsistent look to slides	Font Too Small	Reads the Slide Word for Word	No logical flow of points on slide	Graphic that is unrelated to the message of the slide
Full sentence as a bullet point	Animated clip art	Twirling or Spinning text	Runs over allotted time	Drops into the program mode at the end
Chart or Graph that is too small	Skips over points due to time	More than three fonts on a slide	Walks in front of the projector	Displays all bullet points on slide at once